All Things Nice hosted the sixth edition of Celebrating India's Finest presented by HT Café. The evening recognised winners of the Indian Wine Consumer Choice Awards (IWCCA) held earlier this year. Wineries showcased their winning wines along with their entire portfolio to an audience of absolute wine enthusiasts.

More than 250 guests including members of All Things Nice, CEOs of leading Indian and multinational corporates, winery owners, ATMA supporters, diplomats, chefs, restaurateurs, hoteliers and professionals from the wine fraternity were seen enjoying the wines on display. Guests enjoyed a free flow of all styles of wine produced in India.

Each year, the winners of the IWCCA are recognised at

THE EVENING RECOGNISED WINNERS OF THE INDIAN WINE CONSUMER CHOICE AWARDS (IWCCA).

Celebrating India's Finest, an evening that showcases the best India can offer in the wine realm. Sommelier and CEO of All Things Nice, Nikhil Agarwal said, "The sixth edition of Celebrating India's Finest was the biggest that we have put together so far. We had wonderful partners. I'm happy that our guests enjoyed the width of quality wines produced in India."

Delectable hors d'oeuvres that were carefully curated by Eat Drink Design and paired with a wide selection of wines completed the indulgent experience. Guests also enjoyed a fine selection of Pascati Chocolates with the wine. Part of the revenue generated through ticket sales was donated to ATMA, the charity partner for the evening. As part of its initiative to raise money for ATMA, Cathay Pacific offered a complimentary ticket at a lucky draw. All in all, it was truly a night to celebrate the history and quality of Indian wine.
